

Ever wondered if your pension is part of the £37 billion black hole of unclaimed funds in the UK?

If any of your pension pots have slipped off the radar, it's time to take action. At Aapex Wealth, our Pension Tracing service is dedicated to reconnecting you with your hard-earned savings. But why do so many choose to transfer their frozen UK pension schemes?

Here's why you should consider making the switch:

- Flexibility
Tailor your investments to match your goals. From stocks to property, the choice is yours
- Control
Take charge of your retirement by managing your own portfolio
- Tax Efficiency
Enjoy significant tax benefits that can enhance your nest egg. A SIPP isn't just another pension plan; it's your passport to a financially secure retirement

Here's what one of our clients shared recently:

"I have been living and working in Australia for thirteen years, and have a UK pension that was performing badly that I wanted to explore options for. Some expat colleagues strongly recommended Aapex Wealth Management and Stacey, who talked me through all of my options. She understood from the start that my priorities were transparency, flexibility and a better rate of return.

Stacey is diligent, professional, proactive and approachable. I was especially impressed with the early recognition that lower-performing elements of the initial portfolio could be improved - rather than waiting for an annual review, and with the extricating of funds from my UK pension provider, which proved problematic - Stacey's help was invaluable during this process."
